

To Whom It May Concern,

It is with the greatest admiration and absolute confidence that I recommend Monique Maritz, who served as a Senior Graphic Designer in our Creative Studio at Digital Gaming Corporation (DGC). I do not say this lightly: Monique is one of the most exceptional designers I've had the privilege of working with in my entire career, a creative powerhouse whose talent, professionalism, and dedication are simply world-class.

Monique brings together everything you hope to find in a senior designer, strategic thinking, refined aesthetics, flawless execution, and a calm, focused energy that inspires trust. Her work speaks for itself: elevated, brand-aligned, and conceptually strong. Whether she was leading large-scale campaigns, shaping digital-first design systems, or turning around last-minute briefs with ease, Monique approached every task with excellence and intention.

What truly sets Monique apart is her creative intelligence, she doesn't just design for the sake of beauty, she designs with purpose. She has a deep understanding of how to communicate visually, how to build meaning through design, and how to elevate every idea she touches. Her grasp of branding is razor-sharp, and she has a unique ability to bring clarity and cohesion to even the most complex projects.

Monique was also a critical thought partner for me and the rest of the leadership team. Her input was always considered, insightful, and rooted in what's best for the brand and the end user. She led by example, delivered consistently at a senior level, and carried herself with integrity and professionalism throughout.

On top of her incredible skill, Monique is a joy to work with. She's dependable, humble, and self-motivated, and she moves through every challenge with grace and grit. She never seeks the spotlight, but she unquestionably deserves it. Her presence elevated the quality of the entire team's output, not through noise, but through quiet mastery and consistency.

If you're looking for a senior designer who brings real value, makes an immediate impact, and produces work that reflects both thought and heart, Monique is that designer. I cannot recommend her highly enough, and I would work with her again in a heartbeat.

Warm regards,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Ewan Manefeldt', with a stylized flourish at the end.

Ewan Manefeldt
Head of Creative